Mc. H. T. Tomlinnon. President St. Andrews society, Memphis, Tennessee.

Dear Sik—Your kind letter of the twenty-second was received. Bad news, indeed, was it to me, and your kindness to my beloved son, a stranger in a strange limb in his hour of need, can in a measure, never be repaid. It is a great consolation to me to know that he was so well cared for, and not left to be cast aside and fill an inaknown grave. He, who cares for the widow and orphan, will reward you for your deed of charity. Should any member of your society come north, they will always find an open house and a bearty welcome. I shall always hold you and your society in dear remembrance, and he who wipes the widow lears, will recompense you more fully than to me, my circumstances being such that I cannot remburse you. I remain yours, very truly,

Many of the readers of the APPEAL will remember that early last summer the gentleman whose name heads this article was killed by the Indians, who were afterward so thoroughly chastised by Custar's command. He had been for many years a resident of Memphis, connected officially with the Unickasaw Club. He served with distinction throughout the late civil war in the Confederate simy, and was a brave, straightforward honest man. The following fetter from General Custar tells the manner of his death, and speaks of him in terms that all his old comrades in arms will indorse:

242 & 244 Main Street, cor. Jefferson. Memphis, Tenn. STEAMBOATS. FOR NEW ORLEANS Memphis Theater.

There was a good attendance at the Memphis Theater last evening, and the sensational drama of Watch and Watt was received with a good deal of applianse. The manner in which the management has placed this, their initial drama, on the stage is an exceed of what they can do and no doubt will do in the future Much faste was displayed, a good deal of artistic ability exercised, white a large amount of skill predominated in placing the piece on the stage, it was these adjuncts coupled with the excellence of the stock company that made what otherwise may be styled as a trashy melo-drama a success. It is evidenthat the present management are determined to achieve success, and it is only by this meanthey will accomplish the ends they have it view. To thororow evening Mr. Frank Evans a young, promising and successful actor, will make his appearance as "Eaustace Hrandry, in the drama of that name, supported by the whole strength of the company. The play is a most exciting and interesting one, and ought to attract a large andience. Memphis Theater. FOR NEW ORLEANS AND THE BENDS Henry Ames, Fest Jacobs. master | W. C.
